

David Sutton –Senior Clinician in Equine Medicine, University of Glasgow

Speaker; 11.30, Friday 24 September, Decision making in equine colic: management and treatment of colic in first- opinion practice

David is the Senior University Clinician in Equine Medicine at Glasgow and has particular expertise in gastrointestinal disorders, having completed his PhD on equine gastrointestinal motility. In addition to working in referral hospitals in South Africa and Scotland, he has worked in private practice in North Yorkshire and most recently Lanarkshire, and will draw on his combined experience for this presentation on colic.