

Remote CPD day and AGM – 6th November 2020

This year, the Veterinary Deer Society (VDS) is planning on running a CPD event focussing on deer. Given the continuing situation with Covid19 and large gatherings, the intention of this CPD day is to be via Zoom, or another electronic media which will be confirmed closer to the time. An Annual General Meeting will also be conducted for members of the VDS and will take place after the main presentation. The VDS meeting will take place on Friday the 6th November 2020; the proposed topics and timings are as follows (subject to change):

- 11.00 Meeting opens – delegates log onto Zoom platform
- 11.15 Control of Deer by Contraception – Dr Giovanna Massei, National Wildlife Management Centre, Animal and Plant Health Agency, York.
- 12.00 Park deer and Tb – Peter Green, Veterinary Surgeon & Consultant in the health and welfare of deer.
- 12.45 Lunch
- 13.15 New Zealand Deer Farming: Current Practices and Relevance to the UK Industry – Sam Ecroyd, Tyndale Vets.
- 14.00 Deer, ticks and vector borne diseases – Professor Richard Birtles, University of Salford.
- 14.45 VDS AGM

This will account for three hours CPD (for vets), for which you will be entitled to a CPD certificate. In order to sign up to this day please use the following link. You will be sent full joining instructions for logging into the day closer to the time. The “earlybird” costings for this day are £50 for members and £65 for non-members. After Monday the 14th September, these rates will increase to £60 for members and £75 for non-members. If you have any further queries around this online event, please do feel free to get in touch with us at “admin@vetdeersociety.com”
